

Vickie Winans & Darryl D. Lassiter Team Up Again

Takes Place In New York City This Weekend

Lassiter To Direct All-Star Cast including Mario Winans and Puffy P-Diddy in Vickie Winans Remix of Shake Yourself Loose

(Atlanta, GA) – March 5, 2003 -- Vickie Winans just completed her music video “Shake Yourself Loose” in her hometown Detroit, MI. It was directed by Atlanta Filmmaker Darryl D. Lassiter. It was the fourth time Lassiter and Winans have teamed up on a music video. The song was released to radio this past Tuesday.

Now comes the fifth video for Winans and Lassiter. This time hitmakers Sean “Puffy P.Diddy” Combs and Mario Winans have provided a cool remix of the song that will now become another music video. This production will take place at Puffy’s midtown Manhattan Penthouse this weekend.

The remix to “Shake Yourself Loose” will debut simultaneously with the original mix by the end of the month. Vickie is hosting a national premiere in her hometown Detroit in the coming weeks.

Winans, her label-Verity Records and Lassiter have confirmed two more videos this spring to be produced and directed by Lassiter. “Shook” featuring a duet between Vickie and her youngest son, Marvin Winans, Jr. will be filmed in New York City. The other, “If You’re Happy” is set to be filmed in Atlanta. The latter will feature hundreds of little kids.
